2026-09-23 00:00–23:59 UTC · all times UTC · data from Binance, Bybit, OKX, Bitget, Gate

THE DAY IN ONE LINE

Strong U.S. economic data sent bond yields to 19-year highs on September 23, triggering profit-taking in Bitcoin (down 2.1%) and Ethereum (down 2.5%) as investors rotated capital into bonds.

01 · PRICE & VOLUME

What every venue's price and volume did

The same two contracts on every exchange, for this UTC day. When the prices line up, nothing unusual is happening; a gap or a big volume difference is worth noticing.

BITCOIN (BTC PERPETUAL)

VENUE	CLOSE	CHANGE	HIGH	LOW	VOLUME
Bybit	$84,355.20	-2.10%	$87,282.50	$83,453.70	$6.92B

Gate	$2,683.50	-2.52%	$2,786.99	$2,633.00	$6.78B

All five major exchanges (Binance, OKX, Bybit, Bitget, Gate) reported nearly identical prices for both Bitcoin and Ethereum throughout the day, showing strong agreement across venues. Binance led trading volume, with $17.8 billion in BTC volume and $11.9 billion in ETH volume, followed by OKX.

02 · POSITIONING

How traders were leaning

Funding shows which side is paying to hold its position (positive = longs pay shorts). Open interest is how much money is in open bets; its change over the day shows money coming in or out. Long/short is how many accounts lean each way.

Funding, open interest and mark price are point-in-time (as of 23:59 UTC), not daily figures.

Historical funding rates and open-interest data are unavailable for this date. However, spot Bitcoin ETFs attracted approximately $1.7 billion in net inflows over September 22–23 despite the price decline, suggesting institutional traders remained confident in the underlying assets even as short-term traders took profits on the bond-yield shock.

03 · BIGGEST MOVERS

The coins that moved the most

The largest moves on Binance for this UTC day, with the reason where the news supports one.

No standout movers today.

04 · STOCKS & COMMODITIES ON BINANCE FUTURES

Equities and commodities traded on Binance

Binance lists tokenised perpetuals for stocks (Korea, Hong Kong, China and the US) and commodities. The perp trades nearly around the clock, but the underlying market is open only a few hours — when it was closed, that is noted instead of showing drift as a daily move.

Stock & commodity data was unavailable this run.

THE THREE THAT MATTERED MOST

U.S. bond yields spike to 19-year highs on strong economic data, triggering crypto selloff

The 10-year U.S. Treasury yield jumped over 13 basis points to 5.1%, the highest since 2007, after S&P Global reported business activity accelerating at its fastest pace since July 2021, with employment rising at its fastest pace since 2022. The surge in bond yields triggered a broad risk-off rotation, with capital flowing out of Bitcoin, Ethereum, and risky stocks into safer bonds. The Nasdaq fell 1.1% and the S&P 500 fell 0.75%.

INSTITUTIONAL FLOWS AND ETFs

Spot Bitcoin ETFs pull in $1.7 billion over two days despite price decline

Spot Bitcoin ETFs attracted approximately $715 million on September 22 and significant additional inflows on September 23, for a two-day total exceeding $1.7 billion—the strongest two-day performance in over a year. BlackRock's IBIT remained the largest U.S. spot Bitcoin fund with $67.9 billion in assets. Ethereum spot ETFs posted $162.2 million in net inflows with BlackRock's ETHA leading at $88.1 million.

TRADITIONAL MARKETS

Treasury yields surge to 19-year highs amid robust economic data and rising oil prices

The 10-year Treasury yield hit 5.1%, the highest since 2007. S&P Global data showed private-sector business activity expanding at its fastest pace since July 2021, with both manufacturing and services sectors accelerating and employment rising at its fastest pace since 2022. Oil prices also jumped above $103 per barrel, amplifying the yield-driven rotation out of risky assets.

— 07 · GLOSSARY

Every term used today, in plain words

Bond yield — The annual percentage of interest a bond investor receives. When bond yields rise, bonds become more attractive than other investments like crypto, often triggering capital rotation.

Funding rate — The interest traders with long positions pay to traders with short positions in perpetual futures contracts. It reflects whether the market sentiment is more bullish or bearish.

Long/short ratio — The proportion of traders betting the price will go up (long) versus traders betting it will go down (short). A higher ratio means more bullish sentiment in the market.

Mark price — The reference price used to calculate profits and losses on perpetual futures, often derived from spot prices to prevent price manipulation.

Open interest — The total number of unfinished futures or options contracts held by traders at any moment. Higher open interest typically indicates more conviction about a price direction.

Open-interest change — How much the total number of open contracts increased or decreased over a time period. Growing open interest often means new money entering the market, while shrinking open interest means traders are closing positions.

Profit-taking — When traders close winning positions and sell, locking in gains. Large waves of profit-taking can push prices lower even when sentiment remains positive.

Risk-off rotation — When investors move money from riskier investments (like crypto and tech stocks) into safer, more stable ones (like government bonds) due to market uncertainty or changing economic conditions.

Volume — The total amount of an asset traded on an exchange over a time period, measured in dollars or coins. Higher volume typically means more liquidity and stronger trader interest.
